An Illinois-based company that helps people receive dialysis treatments in their own homes has opened its first location outside of the state of Illinois. Home Dialysis Services [<http://www.hdsdialysis.com>] opened earlier this month in Derry Twp. at 555 E. Chocolate Ave.

Dialysis patients who would normally be referred to an in-center treatment facility are able to dialyze at home for a shorter amount of time because they are able to have treatments more often, the company said in a press release. The Derry Twp. location offers both home hemodialysis and peritoneal dialysis. Staff-assistance is available for qualified home hemodialysis patients who don't have a care partner.

The 3,300-square-foot facility is the largest of the company's current locations and serves as a training center for patients on home hemodialysis and peritoneal dialysis.

The Illinois-based company is expected to also add locations in Kansas, Florida, Illinois and Indiana this year.

The company held a ribbon-cutting at its new facility in Derry Twp. on Oct. 22.
